GillmoreSPACE Showcases New Ranges at Decorex International 2010

British furniture designer, GillmoreSPACE will be introducing three exciting new product ranges at Decorex International, Royal Hospital, Chelsea, London on the 26 – 29th September 2010 – Cordoba, Glacier and Gerrit. These eclectic and vibrant designs use a variety of contrasting materials and finishes to meet the practical needs of contemporary living without bypassing the individual's desire to add something personal.

Cordoba

Dark, sensual and luxurious, Cordoba is made using a superior wenge stained wood veneer and offers a wide range of designs, including chairs, tables and storage solutions for modern living, dining and sleeping.

Glacier

Graphic lines and modulating layers give Glacier its cutting edge, yet unobtrusive, appeal through its striking handle designs. Architectural qualities allow light and shade to play gracefully off the contrasting surface textures of gloss white lacquer and matt oak veneer.

The range began as a series of paper models, playing with cuts and folds to create a series of simple modulated surfaces which played with the concept of shadow as the surfaces move forward and back. Placing a handle where these modulating surfaces meet, became both the functional and decorative signature for the Glacier range.

Gerrit

Bold angular structures playfully create a simple and functional series of glass based tables and mirrors. Available in walnut or matt white lacquer, the Gerrit collection is both quirky and engaging – a true quality of British design.

Charles Gillmore 2010, founder of GillmoreSPACE and designer of the Gerrit range explains: "This was an exercise in creating practical designs with depth and personality from simple panel materials without surface detail. Starting life as a coffee table Gerrit quickly evolved into a family of products; a desk being the most recent addition."

GillmoreSPACE will be exhibiting at Stand E162, Decorex International 2010, Royal Hospital Chelsea, London, SW3 4SR, www.decorx.com. GillmoreSPACE products are available online at www.gillmorespace.com.
